DESPITE CLOUDS OF SCANDAL, TWO CLUBS ARE READY

Nationals and Giants Ready For Initial Game of Series Saturday

DREFUSS IS RILED

Calls Hand of John McGraw In Reiterating His Statement

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Members of the Washington Senators and the New York Giants baseball clubs, ignoring to all outward appearances the cloud of scandal that has been thrust over the scene, today are preparing for the beginning of the world series games tomorrow.
Washington will stage its fight for championship with the same lineup as in the last game.
Washington officialdom is preparing to take part among the 37,000 ticket holders, who are just a lucky minority to the tens of thousands who wish to witness the game.
Ticket sellers continue to do a flourishing business, these games tickets were sold in some cases for $15.00.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—Reiterating his statement that he believed "others in the background" who knew all about baseball's latest scandal Barney Drefuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Nationals left today for Washington with the expressed intention of suggesting that Commissioner Landis reopen his investigation. "I am going to repeat all that I said yesterday to which some persons have taken exception, and if anybody wants to start anything with me I will be there to give them all the satisfaction they want," said the Pittsburgh magnate.

"If this case is not cleaned up to the entire satisfaction of the public by bringing every guilty man to justice and there must be more than two involved I will be in favor of eliminating the world series for a time at least, as it is best for the game," he added.

"Manager McGraw of the New York club had been quoted as taking exception to some of my remarks and said he was still sore about the defeat in 1921," continued the club owner.

"If all that happened in 1921 has been expressed Mr. McGraw might not look very good now. The old saying about being in a glass house may apply in this case. Mr. McGraw should be the last person ever to refer to 1921 but I am not going to get into any argument with him, he is not in my class."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The 1924 world's series will go on, notwithstanding that baseball was shaken to its foundation Thursday by a whirlwind succession of developments growing out of the attempt of Jimmy O'Connell, young New York outfielder, to bribe Heinie Sands, Philadelphia shortstop, in the game that decided the National league pennant race for the Giants.

This was the declaration Thursday night of Keneas Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball. It was made after a hectic day during which fresh charges were being brought by O'Connell, who has been banished for all time from the game, together with Cozy Dolan, Giant coach, accused of instigating the bribery plot.

While some view the situation optimistically, others contend that the real disclosures have not yet been made. They fear further revelations that might bring about a situation similar to the scandal which threatened the very life of baseball in 1919.

Frankly admitting his guilt, O'Connell told of the approach of Dolan with the proposal to bribe Sands, his conversation with the latter and Sands' refusal of this offer.

(By the Associated Press)
PAWHUSKA, Oct. 3.—Two motor bandits who robbed them of their automobile, their valuables and clothes left Forrest Cennett and George Clopp, 21-year-old boys of Pawhuska standing naked on a lonely wind swept road several miles north of here last night. Scouring through to avoid passersby, the boys arrived at a farmers and securing overalls, walked to Pawhuska to report the robbery.

Japanese Not Certain.

(By the Associated Press)
TOKIO, Oct. 3.—Adoption of the protocol of compulsory arbitration by the League of Nations assembly now in session at Geneva does not conclude the question as far as Japan is concerned, decision of ratification until a thorough study had been given the subject it was stated in highest official quarter today.

NEW HIGH LEVELS REACHED BY GRAIN

Wheat, Rye and Oats Smash Over Previous High Prices For New Records

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—With new buying on a big scale plainly evidenced all grain scored fresh advances today in the market, making many new top records for the season. Figures were said to show 54,000 bushels less available than a month ago.
Fluctuations were especially rapid in the wheat owing to heavy profit taking. Wheat opened from three-eighths to two and one-third cents higher than previously and was soon followed by further gains.
Rye and oats made light jumps in price but all deliveries of wheat as well as of rye together with May oats smashed over the previous high levels.

TWO PRISONERS GIVEN FREEDOM FROM JAIL

The county jail lost two of its boarders today when D. H. Fritchey and Dave Smith were released after bondsmen had placed a security for their freedom.

Fritchey's release comes after two months of confinement in the county jail as a result of his arrest during the Legion convention on a charge of taking a handbag from a visiting Legionnaire at the Harris hotel.

Fritchey was arrested at Francis and the handbag recovered. He was placed in the county jail and has been an inmate up to today. His release came when bond was made on three charges to his credit.

Smith was charged with grand larceny, involving the alleged theft of a six-shooter, jumper and other articles some time ago.

County officers reported that no arrests had been made to fill the county bastille.

Record Drought Reported.

(By the Associated Press)
TOMACA, Wash., Oct. 3.—All records for drought were broken in western Washington, the area between the Cascade mountains and the Pacific ocean, in the weather year ending Sept. 1. This region generally is associated with heavy rainfall, but in the last year only 22.79 inches of rain were measured by the weather bureau here. Records dating from 1884 make the average annual moisture 40.79. The banner year for rain was 1897, when the fall was 52.76.

Old-timers commonly assert that the rainfall is diminishing as the forests that once covered western Washington like a mat are being cut away.

Ducks Delay Flight Here; Gunmen Weep

The pilgrimage of hunters to the streams of Pontotoc county in search of ducks has failed to materialize up to date despite the fact that the season was officially declared open last Wednesday.

The advance runners for the season who journeyed to favored spots Wednesday morning found that the flight of ducks from the north lakes and swamps has not started and prospects for a migration sufficient to attract local enthusiasts will not come until cold weather.

Those who have heralded the opening of the season have found the supply of targets in the county diminishing each morning with ultimate exhaustion in view. They maintain that what few ducks await hunters in the county are of local genealogy.

Reports from game baggers indicate that migration may be hindered in local quarter unless county streams and ponds are filled, the watering places in the county now being dried up.

Those in authority believe that cooler weather and watering place for birds on flight will bring ample migration to supply the demands of local hunters.

Reports from ammunition supply houses indicate that hunters are preparing for an active barrage on ducks which chance to come this way.

Construction Plans To Launch Road to Billings and Ponca

PONCA CITY, Okla., Oct. 3.—Work is expected to be started soon on the Ponca City, Billings connection of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, which will traverse the oil field district of Southern Kay and northern Noble counties. Oil men declare it will supply a long felt transportation need and will eliminate many long overland hauls.

The line will be 18 miles long and will connect with the Enid-Billings branch of the Rock Island at Billings and with the main line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway at Ponca City.

Already several loads of timber and rail, taken from the abandoned Guthrie-Chandler connection have been unloaded at Billings, from which point construction will start. Official notification of the approval by the Interstate Commerce commission is the only thing holding up construction work, the chamber of commerce here has been informed.

(By the Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Oct. 3.—An offensive for which the invading Kiangsu forces attempted to take Shanghai has been gathering men and munition for the past three days starting last night southwest of Sunkkiang, at a point 35 miles south of Shanghai. The defensive Chegiang troops were forced to retreat two miles to a new position after intensive fighting in which both sides employed artillery.

An old fashion revival is on at the McAdams tent. Souls are being saved every service. A strong message was brought on the "Resurrection." Text John 5:28. Many beautiful passages of scripture were used such as Job 19:25, John 11:25 and many others.

"The Atonement" will be the subject for tonight. Sunday morning at 7 o'clock at the tent, Mrs. McAdams will preach on the subject of "Healing the Body." All sick and invalids are invited to come. A great service is expected.

COTTON STAGES VANOSS REVIVAL

Business Thriving With Better Cotton Prospects This Year

Optimism is battling down pessimism in Vanoss, the little town which nestled among the hills several miles west of Ada on the Santa Fe railroad. For three years old man hard times has dwelt in that section, many report, but indications now are that he is about to be driven out by the advancing march of the legions of King Cotton, assisted by the small armies of lesser kings and dukes and earles.

Thursday afternoon saw the Vanoss gin almost double the output of cotton that it produced all last season. The price of the white staple, combined with the quantity, is permitting growers to wipe out some long outstanding debts and lay in some of the comforts of life. This does not mean that comforts have not been provided for the last three years, but it has been difficult for some of the citizens, like those in other sections, to keep up the standards when the boll weevil, floods and drouths were all combining to cut down production.

Mr. McCauley, president of the First State bank at Vanoss, states that cotton growers are paying up old debts and new debts. His deposits are increasing. While the stores have not felt the peak of the buying season, they are expecting things to move upward in the near future and reach the peak around the Christmas shopping period.

While Vanoss has felt the thrill of an expected oil boom, the citizens are not depending upon the fluid from the bowels of the earth for prosperity. They are taking it from the surface of the earth.

Work of Preparing State Budget Upon Appropriation Made

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 3.—The work of preparing the budget upon which the state legislature basis its appropriations for state operations and state institutions is nearing completion, according to Ben Harrison, state budget officer. It will be ready for the legislature when it meets in January, he said. It probably will be more than $1,000,000 less than the amount of the 1924 budget.

While many of the state institutions have asked for more money for the two-year period beginning 1925, declaring increasing operation expenses demand large appropriations, the administrative and executive offices of the state government show reduced estimates, Harrison said.

Placing the state property valuation at $1,665,566,451 the excise board estimated that $6,812,281.97 must be raised from sources other than ad valorem taxation to meet the expenses of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925. The state expenses, institutional and departmental will total $10,143,000 for this fiscal year. It is believed by Harrison that the estimated cost of the state government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, will be reduced to $9,000,000.

Men Were Cremated in 700 B. C.

(By the Associated Press)
NIENBURG, Germany.—Urns containing the ashes of human beings believed to have been cremated 2,600 years ago have been discovered at Wenden, in the valley of the Weser.

Dr. Jacob Friesen, who made the find of 127 graves, believes he has unearthed a cemetery of agriculturalists who inhabited the Weser district several centuries before Christ walked in Galilee.

Ada Pepped Up for Series

Clouds or no clouds over the World Series through the confessions of Jimmie O'Connell of the New York Giants team, Ada is all ripped up to tune in on the opening game tomorrow.

With the same zeal that followed the contesting clubs to victories in the American and National leagues Ada fans are ready to root for their favorites in the series starting tomorrow.

Washington seems to be Ada's choice against the New York Giants. Apparently a sentiment to drive New York teams from monopoly in the major league series is well under way in Ada.

Politics and even the hunting season fails to hold light to the interest over the series starting tomorrow.

WHEAT FARMERS CASH IN ON MARKET RAISE

OKLAHOMA CITY.—A windfall of $800,000 in the pockets of Oklahoma farmers' That is what the jump in the price of wheat on Thursday's board of trade means to Oklahoma.

Wheat buyers in the Oklahoma City Grain Dealers association and in local mills estimated Thursday that approximately 35 percent of this year's wheat crop in Oklahoma still is in the hands of the men who grew it.

Carl Williams, editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman, gave figures which indicated that 27 percent of the crop, or about 11,000,000 bushels still is in the granaries of individual growers, while 5,000,000 bushels more of Oklahoma wheat is held at present by the Wheat Growers' Co-operative association which in effect is the same as being in the hands of the growers. This would make a total of 16,000,000 bushels on which farmers will glean an increased price.

The rise in the cash market for hard wheat in Oklahoma amounted to 5 cents a bushel. The top price Thursday was $1.28, as compared to $1.23 Wednesday. The rise in May futures on the Chicago market to $1.50 held only indirect significance to Oklahoma farmers as practically none of them ever sell futures.

MAN FOUND GUILTY OF FLOGGING MARYLAND GIRL

(By the Associated Press)
FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 3.—A verdict of guilty was returned by the jury today in the case of Harry Leatherman, indicted for tarring and feathering Dorothy Grandon of Martinsville, West Virginia, at Myersville, near here last July. Leatherman was convicted for aiding in the attack on the Grandon girl, there are 18 others indicted on charges of participation in the tarring and feathering episode.

FOUR HUNDRED AND FIFTY MEN MAKING EXPENSES

NORMAN.—(Special)—Four hundred and fifty men are making all their expenses in the University of Oklahoma and more than six hundred are working part time, according to B. S. Graham, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. This year the average student came to Norman with more money saved up than last year, but jobs remain at a premium. The student body of the university has grown so much more rapidly than Norman that the time has passed when the majority of the students can work their way thru four years of university.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Prediction of cloudy weather for tomorrow, world series opening was held by Washington fans as an omen for triumph for Walter Johnson, pitcher of the speed ball.

YEATS DECLARES LOVE FOR YOUNG GIRL, HIS BRIDE

Declares He Will Oppose Law And Father to Retain Her

ARRAIGNMENT TOMORROW

Girl Remains Silent After Her Return to Old Family Home

(By the Associated Press)
NOWATA, Oct. 3.—Declaring his love for 14-year-old Georgia Fields of Alluwee, with whose abduction he is charged, the Rev. Joseph E. Yeats, former minister of Alluwee asserted he would "fight every attempt of the law and the girl's parents to take her away from me." The Rev. Yeats in custody of a deputy sheriff, arrived here this morning and was placed in jail until the preliminary hearing tomorrow.

The officer and his prisoner had spent the night at Dallas enroute from Winters, Texas, where the minister and the girl were apprehended.

Rev. Yeats reiterated his statement that he and the girl were married on September 19 by the Rev. E. L. Yeates, a brother of the prisoner. He declared he had bought the license at Carthage on September 18, and stated that he and the girl both were of legal age.

Beside the road in the glare of motor lights the 40-year-old minister and the girl were wed. He had previously arranged with his brother just across the Missouri-Oklahoma line, his brother waiting with two witnesses when he and the girl arrived at the spot about 2 a. m.

Although Yeats will talk freely of his love and relation with the girl, at the home of her father, A. W. Fields, Georgia remains silent. Yeats will be arraigned tomorrow.

NOWATA, Oct. 3.—The Reverend Joseph E. Yeates, in custody of Buck George, a deputy sheriff, will arrive here this morning after spending the night at a nearby city according to W. F. Gillespie, sheriff. The officer and prisoner spent the night at either Wagoner or Claremore, the sheriff declined to reveal which. Georgia Fields, the 14-year-old girl with whose abduction the minister is charged will go direct to her home 12 miles from here it was stated officially at the office of the county attorney. The girl is accompanied by her father who went to Ballinger, Texas, where the couple was apprehended, to bring her home.

Nowata is interested in the case of the 40-year-old minister who eloped with a girl choir member and many met the midnight train that he was expected to arrive on.

Yeates who claims he is married to the girl will be arraigned Saturday morning on charge of abduction the county attorney said today.

WETUMKA HERE TODAY FOR HIGH SCHOOL GAME

Ada was prepared to see its first gridiron classic of the season this afternoon when the Wetumka high school team invades the quarters of the Ada high school team and wages battle.

Despite handicaps of the season, Coach Raymond Cox is prepared to launch his team on a full schedule for the year through his opening game this afternoon with Wetumka.

The whistle of the referee this afternoon will officially open the season here. While other games have been played by the college and high school teams away from Ada the game today will be the first to be offered to Ada fans.

Owing to the fact that the College eleven will be on the road for most of their games this year, the high school officials have arranged for a number of games here with some of the strongest high school teams in this section of the state.

Ada high school teams in the past have always found the teams fighting for every inch of the field.

REASONS FOUND WHY JAPAN FAILED IN OLYMPIC GAMES

(By the Associated Press)
TOKIO.—Japanese newspapers express disappointment at the showing of the empire's athletes at the Paris Olympiad. "It was not much to boast of," says the Osaka Mainichi.

The fault is found in part, this newspaper continues, in Japanese houses, customs and food, which all together tend to produce men of slighter physique than is the rule in western countries. "Our people should live, eat, work and rest according to principles which promote health and strength."

In Rhodesia a swarm of locusts six miles long and four miles broad held up a train for several hours.

If there are any doubting Thomases, who are still of the opinion that Gloria Swanson is merely a fashion plate, we bid them rush right over to the McSwain theater where her latest Paramount picture, "Manhandled," began a two day run yesterday. We absolutely guarantee that all doubts as to her histrionic ability will vanish, when they see Gloria combining mimicry, broad comedy, tears and pathos in one of the best character delineations she has yet brought to the screen.

"Manhandled," which was adapted by Frank Tuttle from the Saturday Evening Post story by Arthur Stringer, gives Miss Swanson a wide range of possibilities, and to her credit it must be said that she makes the most of them. In this simple, human story, she plays the part of a shop girl, who starts life in a New York department store. Money, beautiful clothing, good times have the same appeal to her as they have for the average girl, who has never had them. She has youth and beauty—is clever and attractive, and naturally there are men, who are willing enough to help her lead the kind of life she thinks she wants. She is caught up in a wild whirl of gaiety—at a breakneck pursuit of pleasure in the most bohemian set in the metropolis, only to realize in the end that her free and easy contact with so many men has depreciated her value in the eyes of the man who really loves her. How she wins for herself a great and wonderful victory form a mighty climax that will hold the spectators spellbound.

The picture was directed by Allan Dwan, who has surrounded Miss Swanson with an excellent cast, headed by Tom Moore, who gives one of the greatest performances of his career as the hard-working mechanic, whose honest love wins Gloria in the end.

All in all, "Manhandled" is one of the most sensational pictures that we have seen in many a day.

REV. C. L. BROOKS IS THREATENED WITH SUIT

(By the Associated Press)
SAPULPA.—Rev. Charles L. Brooks, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, south, is threatened with suit by J. C. Walton, candidate for the United States senate. Notice of the contemplated action was received by Mr. Brooks in a letter from an attorney representing Walton.

"I am like the American soldiers in France," said the minister. "I don't know how to back up. I had the official documents before me, and I have written the attorney telling him to shoot. I have nothing to retract, no apology to offer, and if Walton wants to sue me the courts are open to him."

OUCH! LOOKE WHO'S GOT A SORE THROAT

Sore Throat No Joke to Jill, the Giraffe—One of the Six Giraffes Coming with Ringling Bros. & Barnum & Bailey

Just think of a giraffe the next time you are afflicted with a sore throat and thank your lucky stars that you are not in his elongated class.

The accompanying picture is of Jill—one of the herd of six giraffes carried by the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, John Patterson, who is boss of all the animals in the mammoth super-menagerie, is of the opinion that one of the higher air currents struck Jill when she was a bit overheated and so gave her a cold. It took a whole pail of goose-grass to cover Jill's neck and yards of cafton flannel to wrap it up. But Jill got well and will be but one of hundreds of strange sights to be seen when the circus exhibits here Thursday, Oct. 23.

FURNITURE FAKES PLANTED IN RURAL ENGLISH HOMES

LONDON.—Of the making of many different kinds of fakes there seems to be no end. There have been faked pictures ever since artists first began to use paints. There are so many faked Rembrandts in existence that few prospective purchasers will complete a deal for one of the great Dutchman's works without consulting an expert. Just now an unusually active business in faked furniture is reported.

"This is an age of faked furniture," said the proprietor of a West End gallery. "One comes across it everywhere. It is certainly more plentiful than genuine furniture.

"Most of it is sold in the first place for what it is, accurate imitation, but later it comes into the market in the ordinary way to be sold as the real thing. Some of the modern faking of Jacobean furniture is so good that it frequently deceives experts. The number of Tudor tables which are on the market is enormous. There is about one for every six houses of Tudor days. Of course, most of them are clever fakes."

A favorite device of the fakers just now is to plant their reproductions, carefully matured and dust-covered, in rural English homes, where they are eagerly snapped up by unsuspecting purchasers who go through the country-side looking for antiques.

BROAD JUMPER FROM HAITI OUT FOR RECORD

PARIS.—To hold the undisputed broad jump championship of the African race is the life's ambition of Sylvio P. Cator of Port-au-Prince, Haiti, who recently shattered the French record with a leap of 7 metres and 30 centimeters, or practically 24 feet.

For this purpose Cator has placed himself under the direction of Trainer Quilgars of the Racing Club of France with the avowed intention of bettering the marks of De Hart Hubbard and Ned Gourdin, the two American negroes who, until Bob Legendre's tremendous jump of 25 feet 6 inches during the Olympic Games, held most of the leaping honors.

Cator came to France last June to represent Haiti in the Olympic Games but, like "Dick" Hyland of California the American Olympic Rugby player, he decided to enter school in France and incidentally to get the benefit of French training methods as well as his studies.

His best jump during the Olympic competition was seven meters ten. Quilgars says the Haitian is improving every day, and he has hopes that before spring he will negotiate seven metres fifty regularly.

Increased Price of Grain Prosperity to State Grain Belts

(By the Associated Press)
ALVA, Okla., Oct. 21.—Prosperity, such as the Oklahoma wheat belt has not enjoyed since the World War, has come in the wake of increased grain prices.

The broad expanses of Woods, Alfalfa, Grant and Garfield counties yielded up a large crop of wheat this year and much of it was sold at prices, profitable to the grower, according to bankers and farmers. Many of the farmers were able to retain their production in storage, benefitting by the prices of the past three weeks which have ranged from $1.15 to $1.25.

Increased sales of farm implements, motor cars, furniture and clothing attest the increased prosperity in the wheat belt, merchants here declare. Liquidation of farm indebtedness is greater this fall than any year since 1919, bankers say.

The attendance at the Alva state teachers college here has increased from 600 last year to approximately 850 this year, according to J. T. Battenburg, president of the college. He attributes much of the increase to improved farm conditions, as it is from the rural districts the school draws most of its student body.

The Japanese Red Cross has conferred decorations on a number of American army officers for their work in relief to Japan.

When I Run For Congress

By Bruce Barton

Through Courtesy of Woman's Home Companion

Some day, when both my bank roll and my skin have grown a little thicker, I intend to run for Congress on a platform of Anti-Bunk. I expect to be elected by the votes of women rather than men—since men have shown an unmistakable tendency to vote for me. I am glad of this opportunity to explain my purpose to readers of the Woman's Home Companion in advance.

The resolution to be a statesman began during my last year in college when I specialized in American History. I read eagerly the debates which preceded the adoption of the Constitution, I pored over the biographies of the Founding Fathers, and I induced the Congressman from the college district to send me regularly the "Congressional Record."

The Senator from Missouri: "Mr. President, I rise to call the attention of this great body to Bill Number 4-11-44, entitled, 'An Act to License Hucksters in the District of Columbia and for October Purposes.'" Mr. President, when the great Republic was established—

The Senator from Oklahoma: "Mr. President."

The President: "Does the Senator from Missouri yield to the Senator from Oklahoma?"

The Senator from Missouri: "I will yield for a question Mr. President."

The Senator from Oklahoma: "Did I understand the Senator from Missouri to say 'When the Republic was established'?"

The Senator from Missouri: "The Senator from Oklahoma did not hear me say, 'When the Republic was established.' I said, 'When the Republic was established.'"

The Senator from Oklahoma: "I thank the Senator. Does the Senator think that it was a good thing for the Republic that the Republican Party was established?"

The Senator from Missouri: "Mr. President, the Senator has asked me a very difficult question. I will say to the Senator that the Divine Providence which guides the destinies of this great people—"

The Senator from California: "Mr. President."

The President: "Does the Senator from Missouri yield to the Senator from California?"

The Senator from Missouri: "With pleasure, Mr. President."

The Senator from California: "Mr. President, since the Senator has referred to Divine Providence I would like to send to the clerk's desk a very worthy paper, 'The Western Vision,' published in our great State of California. I will ask the clerk to read."

Several Senators: "Mr. President, Mr. President."

The President: "The hour of three o'clock having arrived, the Chair lays before the Senate the regular business, Resolution Number 909, An Act to Widen Hoskins Creek, and for Other Purposes."

Pretty dull and trivial stuff, but my enthusiasm was at an age which knows no disillusionment. Immediately after my graduation I joined the home town Republican organization, and decided to begin my career by getting into the state legislature. I might have done it, too, but to tell the honest truth I lost my nerve. The news of my intention spread through the community and a most extraordinary thing happened. My best friends among the older business men sent for me one after another.

"Don't be a fool," they said soberly. "You will ruin your business career."

"You surprise me," I exclaimed. "Why, only the other night I heard you make an eloquent speech demanding that the district send better men to the legislature. I'm not much, but I think I'm as good as the saloonkeeper who represented us last year."

"That's all very well," they answered. "We ought to have better legislators, but let George do it. Don't you monkey with that game."

Not once did this conversation take place, but a dozen times—and I record it because it indicates one of the things that ails our politics.

Let any young man with good business prospects announce himself for political office, and immediately the business world becomes suspicious of him. Whatever we may say in our speeches as Good Citizens, the fact is that in our hearts most of us divide office seekers into three classes—young lawyers seeking reputation, failures in business, and middle-aged men who have established themselves and can afford the sacrifice. It should not be so, but it is so. Hence the next chapter in my political career will not begin until I have enough thousands of dollars in the savings bank so that I can afford to disregard the comment of the business world.

Then, as I have said already, I intend to run for Congress on a platform of Anti-Bunk. I shall conduct my campaign entirely through the advertising columns of the news papers. Some morning the residents of New York will awake to find a full-page advertisement reading somewhat like this:

Nobody Has Asked Me to Run for Congress.

The proper thing to say in announcing yourself for political office is that "many citizens have urged" you to make the sacrifice, or your "friends have persuaded" you that it is your duty.

No citizens or friends have urged me. I am going to run for Congress because I think I would like to be in Congress.

My platform will be Down With Bunk.

If you think that you will not have to work just as hard to make a living my election, do not vote for me. My election won't put a nickel in your pockets.

If you think we ought to have a new post office in our district, don't vote for me. The old post office is good enough and I won't try to get a new one. Because the only way I can get you a new post office—which we don't need—is by voting to help five hundred other Congressmen get new post offices for their districts—which they don't need.

The only way the United States gets any money is by taking it away from the taxpayers. That means taking it away from you. We will never reduce the cost of living in this country until we cease to regard the government as a grab-bag.

If elected I will work sixteen hours a day for the United States just as I have worked sixteen hours a day in my own business. But it will be for the United States. Not to flatter you, or make you think you are going to get something which you can't get.

I will attend no public dinners. I will send out no free turnip seeds.

I will deliver no speeches just to have them reprinted and mailed at the public expense so as to make you think that I am a Great Man.

This is my platform. If elected it will cost me several thousand dollars a year. So you can take me or leave me, just as you will. If you take me, it won't make me proud; and if you leave me it won't make me sore.

Yours for a new deal in the grand old game.

Something like that will be my opening gun. At decent intervals, depending on how much money I can collect from my friends for a campaign fund, I will have other advertisements. The second one might take this form:

The Emperor Diocletian Promised to Reduce the Cost of Living.

He got elected on this promise, and he passed a lot of laws ordering the cost of living to come down.

So did Henry the Eighth. But the cost of living is blind. It cannot read laws. It kept right on going up in spite of Diocletian and Henry.

My opponents will promise to reduce it. But they can't. And they know they can't.

The only way to beat the cost of living is for everybody to do good honest work at a good honest job.

All the government can do to help is to insure a square deal, and then keep its expenses as low as possible.

I will refuse all your requests for new buildings, tariffs, and special laws. I will fire as many of your relatives as I can from the pay roll. This will help to reduce the cost of living, but it will defeat me for reelection.

However, I should worry. All I want is one term to show the country what a Congressman can do without Bunk.

Truth crushed to earth will rise again.

Let's give the poor girl a chance to rise.

My third manifesto would refer to the greatest of all masters of Bunk. It might read somewhat like this:

Napoleon Got Elected as a Reformer.

He was "agin the government" and on the side of the "people." Folks thought that he would make life much harder for the rich and easier for the poor.

But what happened?

As soon as he was firmly seated on the throne he became more despotic than the kings who had preceded him.

He demanded more taxes. When at last he was defeated at Waterloo, he fled back to Paris; and the crowds cheered his name.

He listened in amazement. "Why should they cheer me?" he exclaimed to one of his aides. "What have I ever done for them? I found them poor, I leave them poor."

This is the epitaph of all Buncombe politicians. They promise everything, but the poor pay a high price for these promises.

They pay in taxes. In a higher cost of living. In disappointment and disillusionment.

The government cannot make the rich poor, or the poor rich; or keep the wise from getting ahead; or protect fools from the results of their folly.

It can stand, like an Umpire and see that the rules of the game are fair and that every man gets a chance to do good work, and receive a right return for his work.

I promise to use my influence to make and keep the United States a good place for workers to work in if you are a worker, vote for me.

If you think that the world owes you something, and that the government ought to collect it for you, vote for my opponent.

He promises good weather; good crops; high wages; a full dinner pail; mothers' pensions; bonuses; a tariff which protects everybody and is paid by nobody; and many other advantages.

So did Napoleon. By the time these three advertisements have appeared the campaign ought to be attracting considerable attention. I would then explode my fourth and most dangerous advertisement—a few frank words on the subject of the interests. It might be like this:

Some of My Campaign Funds Come From Wall Street

I have several friends, who are bankers, corporation officials, and lawyers. They have chipped in from one hundred to one thousand dollars apiece to my campaign fund.

It is more or less of a joke with them; they wanted to see how far I could get with this sort of a political campaign.

Their offices are in or near Wall Street. They belong to what the politicians designate as the interests.

I am the first politician in history who has dared to admit that he had even a speaking acquaintance with the interests.

The admission may cook my goose; but at least I will have a chance to say a few honest words on this prize bit of Buncombe.

What are the interests? They are businesses that have grown by making products which people are eager to buy—products that contribute enormously to the convenience and comfort, the health and the happiness of life.

The directing heads of the interests are sons of farmers, sons of teachers and country merchants and preachers. They come to New York from thousands of villages.

The competition is deadly keen. Only men of strong health and unusual ability survive it and get to the top.

Not all of them are honest. Not all farmers are honest. Not all labor leaders are honest. Generally speaking, the percentage of honest men in Wall Street is just about the same as on the farm or at the benches.

Some farmers put the big strawberries on the top of the box and the little strawberries on the bottom. These same men, if they were in Wall Street, would sell bad stocks that look like good stocks.

But we don't condemn all farmers because some farmers are dishonest. And it is absurd to condemn all men in Wall Street because some men in Wall Street do wrong.

For politicians to make their campaign by promising to "curb the interests" is pure undiluted Buncombe, and they know it.

I say: "Encourage the interests. Let them go ahead and make more products at lower prices. Let them make profits, because that will enable them to pay high wages and high taxes."

"Let the government stand as an Umpire and insist the business game be played fairly, with a square deal for the little fellow and the big fellow alike."

"But let's quit attacking business. It is a boat in which we are all fellow-passengers together. If it sinks we all go down."

Has the Buncombe about the interests ever put a single nickel into your pockets? If so, go on voting for it.

If not, vote for me.

I might set down a dozen other advertisements, but these few are enough to give you the flavor of my campaign. Will it be successful? I do not know. But this much I hope—that it will set a lot of folks to thinking on these four fundamental points:

1. It is not the business of government to make us rich; nor to divert money from the pockets of one class of citizens into the pockets of another. Government exists to insure the safety of its citizens, and to conduct certain enterprises of common benefit—the post office, for example—where universal service must be given, regardless of any consideration of profit.

The sound principle on which our fathers built was that the national government should do nothing which the individual states could do as well or better; and that the states should undertake nothing which private initiative could do as well or better.

We have departed a long way from that principle. The departure was necessary. Businesses have become so powerful that it was a question whether they should control government or the government control them. That issue has been definitely settled. We have our Interstate Commerce Commission, our Federal Trade Commission, and the watchful eye of the Courts, enforcing a large body of laws.

Beyond this point of wise supervision, government, I believe, ought not to go. It cannot take over businesses and run them as effectively as individuals can run them. It cannot harass an industry by annoying inquiries without driving all the most capable men out of that industry and into more attractive fields.

I wrote, in this magazine, one of the first articles ever published about Calvin Coolidge. He was a novelty in my experience of public men. He attracted me by his freedom from Bunk, his blunt fashion of telling the truth. And no sounder truth was ever uttered than this:

"The people cannot look to legislation generally for success. Industry, thrift, character, are not conferred by act or resolve. Government cannot relieve from toil. It can provide no substitute for the rewards of service. It can, of course care for the defective and recognize distinguished merit. The moral must care for themselves. Self-government means self-support."

2. Business, properly encouraged and wisely supervised, is a great force for happiness, integrity, health, and peace. This is the second truth for which real statesmanship ought to contend. Look for a minute at the history of this country; consider what has happened in the hundred and fifty years since Paul Revere made his famous ride. A wilderness has been transformed into a great, prosperous empire. Railroads stretch from coast to coast; fifteen million automobiles travel splendid highways; homes are heated better than any homes in the world; they are lighted by electricity; the health and comfort of average folks is higher than it has ever been in any country at any period.

What has accomplished this transformation? Business. The initiative of the common man, ambitious for himself and his wife and children. We have hung up the highest prizes which civilization has ever offered, and we have said to men: "Go to it." And in making their own fortunes they have made ours; for no business can succeed largely and permanently, under the competitive system, unless it renders service to millions at a low price.

We have passed much legislation in the last twenty years. But, honestly, have all these laws together contributed to your happiness and mine as much as the automobile industry has contributed? Think of what it has done in widening the horizon of our lives, in reducing miles to minutes, in making us masters of a large world. Think of what the electrical industry has done in transferring heavy burdens from human shoulders to the iron shoulders of machines, in taking over the household drudgery that overburdened our grandmothers.

Personally I wish that our national business—the government—could be conducted as quietly as private business is—with the same freedom from distortion and personal criticisms and abuse. I am a stockholder, in a microscopic way, in several large corporations. The management has to give an account of its stewardship every year; the president and other officers can be removed by us little stockholders any time we are dissatisfied. But there is no annual campaign of bad oratory. Mr. Gary does not take the stump each November and view him as a foe of the laboring man and traitor to his country. He does not assure me that, if I vote for him, he will increase my dividends by decreasing Mr. Rockefeller's, or fix things so that I can have an easy life at the expense of the rich. Not at all. He makes a dignified annual statement; I read it and, discovering that the company is well managed, that my interests are being looked after and my income protected, I fill in a proxy and let Mr. Gary reelect himself.

Government can hardly be conducted with quite the same dignity and common sense. That would be asking too much. But can't we make some steady progress in this direction? Can't we, instead of attacking Business all the time, take a page out of the Book of Business and try to run our national affairs with more sobriety and economy, and a larger respect for truth?

3. If such progress is to be made one thing is essential. We must make the holding of public office more attractive. We must go out of our way to reward faithful service more generously; and we must be a lot more patient and tolerant than we have been in the past. I am a journalist, and proud of my profession; but when I read the history of journalism in its attitude toward government I am led to blush.

No man ever made a greater sacrifice of personal interests to public service than Washington. He did not want to be President; he would have liked much more to live in quiet on his Virginia acres. We recognize this to-day and reverence his memory. But what was said of him in the days when he was making his sacrifices and rendering his service? I quote from Henry Jones Ford's excellent biography: "He (Washington) was accused of having shown incapacity while general, and of having embezzled funds while President. He was nicknamed 'the stepfather of his country.' The imputation on his honor stung him so keenly that he declared he 'would rather be in his grave than in the Presidency.' and in private correspondence he complained that he had been assailed 'in terms so exaggerated and indecent as could scarcely be applied to a Negro, a notorious defaulter, or even a common pickpocket.'"

We are coming more and more to think of Abraham Lincoln as the representative American. We have made his birthday a holiday, and new books are published about him every month. What was his reward while he lived? One great New York newspaper referred to him as "an ignorant, boorish, third rate backwoods lawyer." He was denounced, said Theodore Roosevelt as "a tyrant, a sheller of blood, a foe of liberty, a would-be dictator, a founder of an empire"—one orator saying, "we have also one emperor, Lincoln, who can tell state jokes while the land is running red with the blood of brothers."

Similar indictments could be gathered in respect to almost every man who has sat in the White House—yet impartial History testifies that no dishonest man has ever sat there, no traitor, no man who, within his lights and capacities, was not decently trying to do his best.

We shall never have as good men in public life as we ought to have until we abandon our habit of wholesale abuse. Every President deserves from every citizen the same consideration which that man would show to his own wife—faith, tolerance, patience, the ready forgiveness of mistakes, proving there is no question of disloyalty.

4. Finally, we ought to make up our minds that the most desirable of all qualities in a politician is Courage. We ought to quit being treated like children—petted, flattered, fed with the cheap colored candy of Buncombe. We ought to stand up and cheer a man who dares to tell us a truth that is not pleasant to hear. We ought to reward a man who has refused to defraud the United States in order to get some petty advantage for his district.

Well, this, as I say, is my platform. I don't know when I will screw up my courage to the point of making the race. Perhaps in another five years or so. Meanwhile if anybody else, in any other city, wants to take the idea and try it out, he has my blessing.

PRETTIEST SPOT IN ENGLAND LODGES CLAIM TO FAME

IPPOLLITTS, England.—This quiet old-world village atop a Hertfordshire hill is modestly putting forth its claim to being the prettiest place in England.

Whether the most pleasing village in England or not, the hamlet is at least interesting because of the quaintness of its name, which seems to be a derivative from the name of a saint who, in his day, was as celebrated as a horse jockey as he was as a man of piety.

This was St. Oppolys, to whom the beautiful old parish church with square tower and millioned windows, is dedicated. Of St. Oppolys it is written that he "was a good tamer of colts, and as good a horse leach, and for these qualities, so devoutly honored after his death all passengers by that way on horseback thought themselves bound to bring their steeds into the church, even up to the high altar where the holy horseman was shrined."

AIR PROGRESS FOR DECADE FORECAST BY BRITISH EXPERT

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—Fairly regular air transport service between England and the far-flung possessions of the British empire ought to be accomplished within the next ten years without serious financial expenditure in the opinion of Air vice-marshal Sir W. Sefton Brancker, director of civil aviation.

Addressing a conference of the Institute of Transport at Wembley, Sir Sefton said that within a decade there certainly would be a bi-weekly airship service to India and Australia, the through journey being accomplished in eleven days.

Another airship service should be flying at least once a week to the Cape of Good Hope by way of West Africa in five and a half days. Airships should certainly be crossing the Atlantic regularly, and it was to be hoped that at least one British line would be plying between Canada and England, taking about two and one-half days.

DESPITE CLOUDS OF SCANDAL, TWO CLUBS ARE READY

DREUFUSS IS RILED

Calls Hand of John McGraw
In Reiterating His Statement

(By the Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Members of the Washington Senators and the New York Giants baseball clubs, ignoring to all outward appearances the cloud of scandal that has been thrust over the scene, today are preparing for the beginning of the world series games tomorrow.
Washington will stage its fight for championship with the same lineup as in the last game.
Washington officialdom is preparing to take part among the 37,000 ticket holders, who are just a lucky minority to the tens of thousands who wish to witness the game.
Ticket sellers continue to do a flourishing business, these games tickets were sold in some cases for $15.00.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—Reiterating his statement that he believed "others in the background" who knew all about baseball's latest scandal Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Nationals, left today for Washington with the expressed intention of suggesting that Commissioner Landis reopen his investigation. "I am going to repeat all that I said yesterday to which some persons have taken exception, and if anybody wants to start anything with me I will be there to give them all the satisfaction they want," said the Pittsburgh magnate.

"If this case is not cleaned up to the entire satisfaction of the public, by bringing every guilty man to justice and there must be more than two involved I will be in favor of eliminating the world series for a time at least, as it is best for the game," he added.

"Manager McGraw of the New York club had been quoted as taking exception to some of my remarks and said he was still sore about the defeat in 1921," continued the club owner.

"If all that happened in 1921 has been expressed Mr. McGraw might not look very good now. The old saying about being in a glass house may apply in this case. Mr. McGraw should be the last person ever to refer to 1921 but I am not going to get into any argument with him, he is not in my class."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The 1924 world's series will go on, notwithstanding that baseball was shaken to its foundation Thursday by a whirlwind succession of developments growing out of the attempt of Jimmy O'Connell, young New York outfielder, to bribe Heinie Sands, Philadelphia shortstop, in the game that decided the National League pennant race for the Giants.

This was the declaration Thursday night of Keneas Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball. It was made after a hectic day during which fresh charges were being brought by O'Connell, who has been banished for all time from the game, together with Coby Dolan, Giant coach, accused of instigating the bribery plot.

While some view the situation optimistically, others contend that the real disclosures have not yet been made. They fear further revelations that might bring about a situation similar to the scandal which threatened the very life of baseball in 1919.

Frankly admitting his guilt, O'Connell told of the approach of Dolan with the proposal to bribe Sands, his conversation with the latter and Sands' refusal of this offer.

MOTOR BANDITS STRIP
BOYS OF CLOTHES AND CAR

(By the Associated Press.)
PAWTHUSKA, Oct. 3.—Two motor bandits who robbed them of their automobile, their valuables and clothes left Forrest Connell and George Clapp, 21-year-old boys of Pawthуска standing naked on a lonely wind swept road several miles north of here last night. NEW HIGH LEVELS REACHED BY GRAIN

Wheat, Rye and Oats Smash
Over Previous High Prices
For New Records

(By the Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—With new buying on a big scale plainly evidenced all grain scored fresh advances today in the market, making many new top records for the season. Figures were said to show 54,000 bushels less available than a month ago.
Fluctuations were especially rapid in the wheat owing to heavy profit taking. Wheat opened from three-eighths to two and one-third cents higher than previously and was soon followed by further gains.
Rye and oats made light jumps in price but all deliveries of wheat as well as of rye together with May oats smashed over the previous high levels.

TWO PRISONERS GIVEN FREEDOM FROM JAIL

The county jail lost two of its boarders today when D. H. Fritchee and Dave Smith were released after bondsmen had placed a security for their freedom.

Fritchee's release comes after two months of confinement in the county jail as a result of his arrest during the Legion convention on a charge of taking a handbag from a visiting Legionnaire at the Harris hotel.
Fritchee was arrested at Francis and the handbag recovered. He was placed in the county jail and has been an inmate up to today. His release came when bond was made on three charges to his credit.
Smith was charged with grand larceny, involving the alleged theft of a six-shooter, jumper and other articles some time ago.

County officers reported that no arrests had been made to fill the county bastille.

Record Drought Reported.

(By the Associated Press.)
TUCUMCA, Wash., Oct. 3.—All records for drought were broken in western Washington, the area between the Cascade mountains and the Pacific ocean, in the weather year ending Sept. 1. This region generally is associated with heavy rainfall, but in the last year only 22.79 inches of rain were measured by the weather bureau here. Records dating from 1884 make the average annual moisture 40.79. The banner year for rain was 1897, when the fall was 52.76.
Old-timers commonly assert that the rainfall is diminishing as the forests that once covered western Washington like a mat are being cut away.

Ducks Delay Flight Here; Gunmen Weep

The pilgrimage of hunters to the streams of Pontotoc county in search of ducks has failed to materialize up to date despite the fact that the season was officially declared open last Wednesday.

The advance runners for the season who journeyed to favored spots Wednesday morning found that the flight of ducks from the north lakes and swamps has not started and prospects for a migration sufficient to attack local enthusiasm will not come until cold weather.
Those who have heralded the opening of the season have found the supply of targets in the county diminishing each morning with ultimate exhaustion in view. They maintain that what few ducks await hunters in the county are of local genealogy.

Reports from game baggers indicate that migration may be hindered in local quarter unless county streams and ponds are filled, the watering places in the county now being dried up.
Those in authority believe that cooler weather and watering place for birds on flight will bring ample migration to supply the demands of local hunters.

Reports from ammunition supply houses indicate that hunters are preparing for an active barrage on ducks which chance to come this way.

Construction Plans To Launch Road to Billings and Ponca

PONCA CITY, Okla., Oct. 3.—Work is expected to be started soon on the Ponca City, Billings connection of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, which will traverse the oil field district of Southern Kay and northern Neche counties. Oil men declare it will supply a long felt transportation need and will eliminate many long overland hauls.
The line will be 18 miles long and will connect with the End-Billings branch of the Rock Island at Billings and with the main line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway at Ponca City.

Already several loads of timber ties and rails, taken from the abandoned Guthrie-Chandler connection have been unloaded at Billings, from which point construction will start. Official notification of the approval by the Interstate Commerce commission is the only thing holding up construction work, the chamber of commerce here has been informed.

COTTON STAGES VANOSS REVIVAL

Business Thriving With Better
Cotton Prospects
This Year

Optimism is battling down pessimism in Vanoss, the little town which nestled among the hills several miles west of Ada on the Santa Fe railroad. For three years old man hard times has dwelt in that section, many reports, but indications now are that he is about to be driven out by the advancing march of the legions of King Cotton, assisted by the small armies of lesser kings and dukes and earls.

Thursday afternoon saw the Vanoss gin almost double the output of cotton that it produced all last season. The price of the white staple, combined with the quantity, is permitting growers to wipe out some long outstanding debts and lay in some of the comforts of life. This does not mean that comforts have not been provided for the last three years, but it has been difficult for some of the citizens, like those in other sections, to keep up the standards when the boll weevil, floods and droughts were all combining to cut down production.

Mr. McCawley, president of the First State bank at Vanoss, states that cotton growers are paying up old debts and new debts. His deposits are increasing. While the stores have not felt the peak of the buying season, they are expecting things to move upward in the near future and reach the peak around the Christmas shopping period.

While Vanoss has felt the thrill of an expected oil boom, the citizens are not depending upon the fluid from the bowels of the earth for prosperity. They are taking it from the surface of the earth.

Work of Preparing State Budget Upon Appropriation Made

(By the Associated Press.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 3.—The work of preparing the budget upon which the state legislature basis its appropriations for state operations and state institutions is nearing completion, according to Ben Harrison, state budget officer. It will be ready for the legislature when it meets in January, he said. It probably will be more than $1,000,000 less than the amount of the 1924 budget.

While many of the state institutions have asked for more money for the two-year period beginning 1925, declaring increasing operation expenses demand larger appropriations, the administrative and executive offices of the state government show reduced estimates, Harrison said.

Placing the state property valuation at $1,666,566,451 the excise board estimated that $6,812,281.97 must be raised from sources other than ad valorem taxation to meet the expenses of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925. The state expenses, institutional and departmental will total $10,143,000 for this fiscal year. It is believed by Harrison that the estimated cost of the state government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, will be reduced to $9,000,000.

Men Were Cremated in 700 B. C.

(By the Associated Press.)
MUNICH, Germany.—Urns containing the ashes of human beings believed to have been cremated 2,600 years ago have been discovered at Wenden, in the valley of the Weser.
Dr. Jacob Friesen, who made the find of 127 graves, believes he has unearthed a cemetery of agriculturists who inhabited the Weser district several centuries before Christ walked in Galilee.

Ada Pepped Up for Series

Clouds or no clouds over the World Series through the confessions of Jimmie O'Connell of the New York Giants team, Ada is all ripped up to tune in on the opening game tomorrow.

With the same zeal that followed the contesting clubs to victories in the American and National leagues Ada fans are ready to root for their favorites in the series starting tomorrow.

Washington seems to be Ada's choice against the New York Giants. Apparently a sentiment to drive New York teams from monopoly in the major league series is well under way in Ada.

Politics and even the hunting season fails to hold light to the interest over the series starting tomorrow.

WHEAT FARMERS CASH IN ON MARKET RAISE

OKLAHOMA CITY.—A windfall of $800,000 in the pockets of Oklahoma farmers! That is what the jump in the price of wheat on Thursday's board of trade means to Oklahoma.

Wheat buyers in the Oklahoma City Grain Dealers association and in local mills estimated Thursday that approximately 25 percent of this year's wheat crop in Oklahoma still is in the hands of the men who grew it.

Carl Williams, editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman, gave figures which indicated that 27 percent of the crop, or about 11,000,000 bushels still is in the granaries of individual growers, while 5,000,000 bushels more of Oklahoma wheat is held at present by the Wheat-Growers' Co-operative association which in effect is the same as being in the hands of the growers. This would make a total of 16,000,000 bushels on which farmers will glean an increased price.

The rise in the cash market for hard wheat in Oklahoma amounted to 5 cents a bushel. The top price Thursday was $1.23, as compared to $1.23 Wednesday. The rise in May futures on the Chicago market to $1.50 held only indirect significance to Oklahoma farmers as practically none of them ever sell futures.

MAN FOUND GUILTY OF FLOGGING MARYLAND GIRL

(By the Associated Press.)
FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 3.—A verdict of guilty was returned by the jury today in the case of Harry Leatherman, indicted for tarring and feathering Dorothy Grandon of Martinsburg, West Virginia, at Myersville, near here last July. Leatherman was convicted for aiding in the attack on the Grandon girl, there are 13 others indicted on charges of participation in the tarring and feathering episode.

FOUR HUNDRED AND FIFTY MEN MAKING EXPENSES

Graham, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. This year the average student came to Norman with more money saved up than last year, but jobs remain at a premium. The student body of the university has grown so much more rapidly than Norman that the time has passed when the majority of the students can work their way thru four years of university.

YEATS DECLARES LOVE FOR YOUNG GIRL, HIS BRIDE

Declares He Will Oppose Law
And Father to Retain Her

ARRAIGNMENT TOMORROW

Girl Remains Silent After Her
Return to Old Family Home

(By the Associated Press.)
NOWATA, Oct. 3.—Declaring his love for 14-year-old Georgia Fields of Alluwee, with whose abduction he is charged, the Rev. Joseph E. Yeates, former minister of Alluwee asserted he would "fight every attempt of the law and the girl's parents to take her away from me." The Rev. Yeates in custody of a deputy sheriff, arrived here this morning and was placed in jail until the preliminary hearing tomorrow.
The officer and his prisoner had spent the night at Dallas enroute from Winters, Texas, where the minister and the girl were apprehended.

Rev. Yeates reiterated his statement that he and the girl were married on September 19 by the Rev. E. L. Yeates, a brother of the prisoner. He declared he had bought the license at Carthage on September 18, and stated that he and the girl both were of legal age.

Beside the road in the glare of motor lights the 40-year-old minister and the girl were wed. He had previously arranged with his brother-in-law across the Missouri-Oklahoma line, his brother waiting for two witnesses when he and the girl arrived at the spot about 2 a. m.

Although Yeates will talk freely of his love and relation with the girl, at the home of her father, A. W. Fields, Georgia remains silent. Yeates will be arraigned tomorrow.

NOWATA, Oct. 3.—The Reverend Joseph E. Yeates, in custody of Buck George, a deputy sheriff, will arrive here this morning after spending the night at a nearby city according to W. F. Gillespie, sheriff. The officer and prisoner spent the night at either Wagoner or Claremore, the sheriff declined to reveal which. Georgia Fields, the 14-year-old girl with whose abduction the minister is charged will go direct to her home 12 miles from here it was stated officially at the office of the county attorney. The girl is accompanied by her father who went to Ballinger, Texas, where the couple was apprehended, to bring her home.

Nowata is interested in the case of the 40-year-old minister who eloped with the girl choir member and many met the midnight train that he was expected to arrive on. Yeates who claims he is married to the girl will be arraigned Saturday morning on charge of abduction the county attorney said today.

WETUMKA HERE TODAY FOR HIGH SCHOOL GAME

Ada was prepared to see its first gridiron classic of the season this afternoon when the Wetumka high school team invades the quarters of the Ada high school team and wages battle.

Despite handicaps of the season, Coach Raymond Cox is prepared to launch his team on a full schedule for the year through his opening game this afternoon with Wetumka. The whistle of the referee this afternoon will officially open the season here. While other games have been played by the college and high school teams away from Ada the game today will be the first to be offered to Ada fans.

Owing to the fact that the College eleven will be on the road for most of their games this year, the high school officials have arranged for a number of games here with some of the strongest high school teams in this section of the state. Those who have been patrons of Ada high school teams in the past have always found the teams fighting for every inch of the field.

REASONS FOUND WHY JAPAN FAILED IN OLYMPIC GAMES

TOKYO.—Japanese newspapers express disappointment at the showing of the empire's athletes at the Paris Olympiad. "It was not much to boast of," says the Osaka Mainichi.
The fault is found in part, this newspaper continues, in Japanese houses, customs and food, which all together tend to produce men of slighter physique than is the rule in western countries. "Our people should live, eat, work and rest according to principles which promote health and strength."

In Rhodesia a swarm of locusts six miles long and four miles broad held up a train for several hours.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BRETHREN, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such a one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.—Galatians 6:1

TAKE AGRICULTURE OUT OF POLITICS.

There can be no doubt that business men throughout the entire country sincerely believe that agriculture is the basic industry of the Nation and must be placed on a profitable business if they, themselves, are to prosper. They have discovered the cause of depressed business conditions, but are disagreed as to the remedy to be used in effecting a cure. Political leaders, however, pretend, at least, to be in possession of the prescription, which, when filled in their own legislative drug store, will put pep in the industry which feeds and clothes the Nation. The Democrats prescribe a large-sized dose of legislation similar to the McNary-Haugen bill, which was rejected by the last Congress. General Dawes, Vice-Presidential nominee on the Republican ticket, is afraid of any suggested remedy and wants another diagnosis. He wants another commission appointed to investigate the industry which will take about a year to compile a report. It is true that the agricultural industry has been investigated several times recently and a voluminous report has been filed with Congress, but this report does not provide the General with political ammunition. While it goes into the trouble pretty thoroughly, to accept it would require a suggested remedy, and it is apparent that General Dawes is not prepared to offer one at this time. The Progressives, under the leadership of LaFollette, would destroy the Rail-Labor board, remodel the Supreme Court and limit its powers, and do many other startling things, with the hope that Agriculture will recover during the period that the people are adjusting themselves to the new conditions brought about by radical legislation.

The Agricultural industry is in politics. It has been put there by politicians who want the farmer vote. They may be sincere, some of them, in their desire to do something for the industry, but whatever they do must lend prestige to themselves and to their party. Just so long as politicians think of themselves first, their party second, and the agricultural industry third, farmers will have to work out their own problems without outside aid. The only way to put the industry on an even footing with other industries of the country is to take it out of politics. Let congress assemble and consider the problem of agriculture from a practical and not from a partisan standpoint. Let them forget that the farmers have votes, and consider only the welfare of the industry and its relation to the prosperity of the country. As B. F. Yoakum puts it, "Provide the machinery for farmers to control their own business, start it going, and leave it in the hands of those who are most interested in its success." The Curtis-Aswell bill, which received a favorable report in the Senate, comes nearer to providing a practical solution of present-day agricultural problems than any other that has been offered. It is strictly a nonpartisan measure.—Farm and Ranch.

MacMillan, the returned Arctic explorer, reports finding a 25-foot vein of bituminous coal within nine degrees of the North Pole. In other places in the frigid zone oil has been found. Looks like the frozen north will yet come into its own. The next thing in order is a summer hotel at the Pole with regular lines of airplanes and dirigibles making daily trips from the principal capitals. The fashionable resorts of Europe and America will then lose their popularity among the exclusive ones who will spend their vacation at the North or South Pole where they will be out of all contact with the common herd.

Senator Capper of Kansas is trying to frighten voters into lining up for Coolidge by pointing out that there is a possibility that La Follette's candidacy may possibly throw the election into congress. He argues that the house would be hopelessly deadlocked in such a contingency, hence the senate would likely elect Charles W. Bryan vice-president and he would step into the presidential chair next March after the house had failed to elect a president. Well, we see nothing to be frightened about. The country certainly could be in worse hands than those of Bryan.

Capper's Weekly in enumerating the names of those who broke records in trips around the world names Phileas Fogg as the one who made it in 80 days. As a matter of fact, Fogg was a fictitious character, the hero of a novel by Jules Verne. Fogg, according to Verne was beset with difficulties on the entire trip but succeeded in winning his bet that he could make the trip in 80 days. That was back in the '70's and the story seemed next to impossible, but it looks rather small in these later days of improved methods of travel.

Yukon, Canadian county, claims to be the horseshoe pitching center of the state, three of its citizens having won championships at the state fair in contests with aspirants from other places. Next.

WHY NOT TRY THE WHIP?

The Forum of the Press

Iowa May Boil
(Omniscient Democrat)
United States Senator S. W. Brookhart of Iowa, is the strongest single force in that Republican state and he is in open rebellion against at least the Republican candidate for vice president, Senator Brookhart has written an open letter to William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, at once meet and substitute a more acceptable candidate for vice president than Charles G. Dawes.

Senator Brookhart's denunciation of Charles G. Dawes as the arch enemy of labor is more severe than that administered to him by Senator Wheeler. He declares that Dawes is wholly unfit to be the candidate for Vice-President on the Republican ticket and that to continue him in this position is to invite the opposition of the farmers of the west as well as union labor throughout the United States. In his letter to Chairman Butler of the national committee, Senator Brookhart says:

"His sulphurated-hydrogen bank record, as established by the supreme court of Illinois the day he was nominated, renders him unfit for public service and he should be removed as the candidate for his party as Denby and Daugherty already were removed from office."

"His official defense in this transaction by a noted Democratic lawyer only makes this conclusion more emphatic. The claim that he was ignorant of the import of his act and only regarded it as a friendly favor adds color to the general claim that his own advertised financial ability is only a bluff that he acts as the agent of international banking powers."

"The further defense that all bankers are doing the same thing is resented even by the bankers themselves."

"Under the false pretense of loyalty, he has organized a disloyal group to conduct an illegal defense of the constitution of the United States with the secret purpose of destroying the constitutional right of union labor, while the Pure Oil company, in which he is interested, is being sued by the government for violation of the criminal law."

"General Charles G. Dawes is an insult to the whole laboring world and his sinister designs are so well known that he will certainly lose the entire labor vote."

Senator Brookhart, in calling attention again to the part which General Dawes played in the big Chicago bank failure and scandal which involved the deposits of thousands of people will be given careful consideration by thinking folks. The Iowa senator points out that the fact that phony deposits have been certified to by other bankers is in no wise an excuse for Dawes. Dawes' crime seems to have been that he certified that the Chicago bank had a million and two hundred thousand dollars in the Dawes bank when it did not have any money there and that this certificate was used to fool the government bank.

China Wants Power in League
PEKING—China will make a fight this year to regain her place on the council of the League of Nations, lost a year ago to Czechoslovakia, according to reports in diplomatic circles. It is argued that being one of the largest nations and therefore having to pay a liberal proportion of the cost of maintaining the League, China is entitled to representation as one of the non-permanent members and her delegates have been instructed to prepare her case accordingly.

PRISCILLA DEAN AT AMERICAN SOON IN CROOK DRAMA

What police and social workers say is one of the finest motion picture stories of criminals ever screened comes to the American theatre Monday and Tuesday.

It is "White Tiger," a Universal Jewel special production. The star is Priscilla Dean and the author-director Ted Browning, the same star-director combination responsible for that amazing underworld screen play of two or three years ago, "Outside the Law."

Miss Dean has in "White Tiger" the role of an underworld queen of the society brand. She is one of three famous, or infamous, international crooks who operate in the exclusive circles of society and turn up their aristocratic noses at jewel worth less than fifty or a hundred thousand dollars.

Properly speaking such a story isn't an "underworld" story in the final sense, and yet, as police records show, the underworld is in its final hour, the headquarters and the training ground of the society class of criminals, so it all amounts to the same.

SWEDEN SEEKS CULTURAL EXCHANGE WITH AMERICA

STOCKHOLM.—An increase in the number of Swedish professors visiting America, a new and genuine admiration of American work in various fields of scientific research, and attempts to effect closer co-operation between science and education in Sweden and the United States is evidenced this year. Among the distinguished men of learning who have recently returned from visits in America are Dr. Karl Peterson, diabetes specialist; Einar Key, surgeon; Professor Gosta Forsell, radiologist; Professor Johnny Rosvall, authority on art and architecture; Professor Carl Charlier, astronomer of Lund University; and Dr. O. Lundberg, expert in folk lore and librarian at Upsala University. Each of these visitors to America has been instrumental in promoting co-operation between the educational worlds of the United States and Sweden, and all urge the establishment of regular exchange professorships between universities of the two countries. Professor Charlier has taken steps to arrange co-operation between astronomers in Sweden and America, and Professor Rosvall has already established an educational exchange of stereopticon slides and other material to illustrate the history of art.

KIDNEY TROUBLE GONE SAYS RACKLEY

Oklahoma Man Suffers For Three Years Before Getting Relief.

A wise suggestion regarding the care of one's health is cited in the experience of J. J. Rackley, a well known business man, 20 West 14th St., Oklahoma City, Okla., who believed there's a valuable lesson in the old adage, "A stitch in time saves nine."

"Some three years ago," says Mr. Rackley, "my kidneys began to bother me, my energy dropped off and that tired, sluggish feeling got hold of me. I had never been sick to speak of and as a matter of precaution against serious trouble I began taking Tanlac."

"Well, sir, Tanlac straightened me right up. Three bottles of the medicine just seemed to tone up and invigorate my whole system. My kidneys were soon regulated, my old time energy returned and even to this day my health is splendid. Tanlac is certainly a great tonic."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Power in the Blood!

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S. S. S. are really amazing!

MAN'S GLORY is his strength—yet how few there are who are really as strong as they should be. The blood thins, gets weaker, blood cells wear out—general weakness and a gradual break-down of the system results.

We know there is one thing that puts power in the blood, and that is more red-blood-cells! S. S. S. builds them by the million! We know that as blood cells decrease in number, blood impurities mount! But have you ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought of it. So-called skin eruptions—pimples, boils, blackheads, cinders all pack up and go when the tide of blood cells begins to roll in. Blood cells are the fighting giants of Nature. S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood cell builders, blood cleansers and body builders known to us mortals. Here is your opportunity! S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down.

YANKS WIN WITH SUPERIOR CLUB

American Winners Beat Giants Last Year With Better Pitching and Hitting

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Superior pitching and batting enabled the New York Yankees to turn back their metropolitan rivals, the Giants, in their third successive world's series battle last season. After failing dismally the previous two years, Miller Huggins' astute, twirling corps and formidable attack, centered around Babe Ruth, swept to a sensational victory, while McGraw's machine crumbled.

The Giants held their own for the first four games, due to the sensational home run hitting of the veteran Casey Stengel whose circuit circuits were the deciding factors in two games. But the Yankees turned the series into a rout in the last two games, the climax coming in the sixth game, when, after a last salient stand, Art Neff, southpaw star of the Giants, collapsed and the National League's surrendered their crown.

Herb Pennock, po-side ace of the Yankees, was the pitching star, with two victories to his credit. Joe Bush and Bob Shawkey were credited with the others for the Yankees while Ryan and Neff gained the Giant triumphs. The best twirling performance was that of Sam Jones, who held the Giants to four hits in the third game but lost because one of these was a homer by Stengel, the only score of the game, while the Yankees were unable to make effective use of their six blows off Neff.

The Yankees wide margin at the bat was shown by their team hitting mark of 293 as compared with 234 for the Giants. The composite averages for both teams follow:

FRANCE WOULD POPULARIZE REMOTE DESOLATION ISLAND

(By the Associated Press)

LE HARVE, France.—An exhibition has been organized at the Harve museum to awaken interest in Kerguelen or Desolation Island, about 90 miles long, lying in the Indian Ocean half way between South Africa and Australia, which was officially taken over by France in 1893.

Rene E. Bossiere, of Harve, has made frequent visits to the island and is endeavoring to develop it economically by sheep raising and as a hunting resort for the adventurous. Etienne Reau, curator of the Harve museum, was recently sent there on a scientific mission and returned with many interesting specimens of flora and fauna. A French company on the island employs 200 people from Oct. 15 to March 10, who prepare and export hides, shells, tusks, oils, etc. Sea elephants abound in great numbers on the shores of Kerguelen, and provide wonderful sport for the hunter.

SOUTHEASTERN TO MEET IOWA STATE

Durant College Team Slated For Tilt With Big Ten Squad

(By the Associated Press)
DURANT, Okla., Oct. 3.—Invading Iowa next Saturday when they meet the Iowa State University eleven at Iowa City, the Savages, football team of the Southeastern State Teachers college here, are determined to make a good showing against the Big Ten conference champions.
Coach J. D. Godfrey has been putting his squad through strenuous grilling this week and the team will be whipped into the best shape possible for the Iowa battle. Thirty-five men, including two all-state gridiron selections last year, are fighting hard for places on the squad which will make the trip.
The Savages came out of their game with the Arkansas Aggies last week with several injuries, none serious. With all-state interior collegiate quarterback in 1923, sustained an injury, but now is back at his position.
Farmer, center, sustained a sprained shoulder in the Aggie game, but despite his injury and lack of weight is expected to make a good showing against Iowa's keystone men.
The Savages lost seven of last year's regulars but have more material for the 1924 team than ever before in the history of the college. Several new men from last year's high school elevens are showing up well. Among the most promising first-year men are Harris, end; Hacker, halfback; Zion, tackle and Beaus, guard.
Lewis, a former star in the backfield of the Savage eleven is back at school after a three years absence. He is making a strong bid for a backfield position. Elkins, Indian athlete, formerly a star performer for the Haskell Institute, is showing great form in punting and broken field running. He also uses his toe to good advantage by booting field goals.
Boyet, who received the unanimous selection as all-state tackle, is back at his position.

England Worried Over Many Deaths From Air Travel

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON.—Since the beginning of the present year there have been 58 deaths among officers and men of the Royal Air Force directly due to accidents to machines. Considerable anxiety is occasioned by such a large number of fatalities to the personnel of the youngest arm of national defence, and the Aeronautical Research Committee is urging that steps be taken immediately to lessen the losses due to lack of technical knowledge among members of the force. All of the experts declare the skill of British pilots cannot be questioned.
The Aeronautical Research Committee last year emphasized the need for a higher standard of technical knowledge in all ranks of the Royal Air Force, and particularly among squadron officers. In this year's report they note with satisfaction that the Air Council agrees with them.
"But a general raising of the standard of technical knowledge," the committee's report declares, "must take time. Meanwhile, accidents which, in the view of the committee are primarily due to the absence of this knowledge, continue to occur. Many machines are destroyed, while in some cases lives are lost. The committee has felt it to be within their province to urge any steps that might reduce such losses."
Aeronautical experts are prompt to suggest, as the real remedy for present defects, that the Royal Air Force be equipped with machines that will not stall, machines which, when they get to the stalling point will simply glide forward and sink flat.
"To provide the remedy may mean the expenditure of money," said one observer, "but you have either to supply an elementary training machine that is foolproof, or go on with the present method with its loss of life."

ARDMORE COP SHOT WHILE MAKING ARREST

ARDMORE.—M. A. Butler city policeman was shot in the arm and shoulder today while attempting to arrest Claud Pruitt, in a downtown drug store. Officers were searching for Pruitt, who escaped following the episode. Butler was taken to a hospital where it was said his condition was not dangerous.
Butler said Pruitt was attempting to buy liquor in the drug store and that he started shooting when the officers intervened. Butler returned the fire but missed. Pruitt was acquitted two years ago of the slaying of John Simms, night police sergeant in a shooting affair at the police station.

Trick Faucet Served Booze

(By the Associated Press)
SALT LAKE CITY.—A double action faucet which when turned on-way flowed water and when turned another flowed moonshine liquor was found by the police dry squad in a recent raid. The faucet was "fed" with whiskey from a barrel buried four feet under the ground in the basement of an alleged "soft drink" establishment and was forced into the tap by a compressed air arrangement.

City of Baltimore Seeks to Preserve Its Landmarks

BALTIMORE, Oct. 3.—The Shot Tower, which has stood as a landmark at Fayette and Front streets in Baltimore for almost 100 years, will be purchased by the city of Baltimore and preserved, if efforts of a number of citizens and organizations are successful.
When the owners of the tower announced last June that unless the city took over the structure it would be demolished, Mayor Howard Jackson said that if the public showed genuine sentiment for preservation of the shaft the city would buy it.
Following the lead of the Daughters of the American Revolution, numerous patriotic and other societies and many individuals appealed for the preservation of this landmark. Representatives of these societies held a conference with the mayor and it was decided to acquire the tower by public subscription.
Late in August, when the owners of the tower and the mayor failed to agree on a purchase price, an ordinance was passed by the city council providing for condemnation of the tower in case the committee seeking funds had not raised the necessary amount within a certain time.
With this time limit approaching, expiration, and the committee still in need of several thousand dollars, the tower seems likely to come down.
The tower is the highest of its kind in the world and is regarded as the oldest munition factory in the United States. From a base forty feet in diameter the shaft rises to a height of 246 feet. The column tapers as it ascends, so that the diameter at the top is only twenty feet. It was built in 1828, Charles Carroll, signer of the Declaration of Independence, laying the cornerstone.
The interior of the structure was destroyed by fire in 1878, but was rebuilt and shot dropping continued until 1902. Then the tower was abandoned for shot making because of the advent of improved methods of manufacture.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

Movie fans will rejoice at the news that Alice Joyce is coming back on the screen. Alice is one of the "old favorites," and we mean nothing insulting by the phrase. She is young as years go, but she happens to be one of the pioneers when it comes to making photographs, having been a leading player for the old Kalem and Vitagraph companies.
You remember the old thrillers in which she starred, "The Lion and the Mouse," "To the Highest Bidder," "Within the Law," "The Sporting Duchess," "The Strength of the Weak," etc., etc. Four years ago Alice married James Regan, New York real estate and hotel man, and practically retired from the screen. She made one picture, two years ago, for Sidney Olcott, a special production of "The Green Goddess" with George Arliss.
An application of George A. Chamberlain's novel, "White Man," is to be Miss Joyce's first picture, but it will not be her last, as, according to B. P. Schubert, producer of Preferred Pictures, she has decided to return permanently to picture work.
Alice Joyce is a most charming woman with brown hair and hazel eyes. She was born in Kansas City, Mo., and obtained her education in Annapolis, Md.
Cable dispatches from Paris say that the cast of "Madame Sans Gene," Gloria Swanson's new starring vehicle, has been completed. It includes some of the most noted actors and actresses in France. Charles De Roche and Gloria are the only members that have had any picture experience in America.
Dessie Love is to play opposite Tom Meighan in "Tongues of Flame," the Peter Clark MacFarlane story that Meighan is making for Paramount.
Clara Bow's admirers have been enquiring what she is doing now. Clara is on location in the wilds of Arizona playing the lead in "The Birth of the West." She is also featured in three new productions, "Wine," "This Woman" and "Black Lightning."
"Argentine Love" by Vicente Juanes will be director of Allan Dwan's next picture. Jose Thies-sandro, Marie Majeroni and Mark Gonzales, who played in "Dangerous Money," will be among those cast. Bobe Daniels and Ricardo Cortez have the leading roles.
Thomas Meighan is to be directed by the youngest director ever to direct a star. The young man mentioned is Edward Sutherland, 25 years old, and Tommy's nephew. The picture which will be filmed when Peter MacFarlane's "Tongues of Flame" is finished, is "Red Rock," and adaptation of Paul Schofield's novel, "Coming Through."
Gothic Productions, headed by Lou Baum, has launched Evelyn Brent as a star in a series of dramatic productions.
"Lefty" Flynn's next picture will be "Obey the Law." H. H. Van Loan's story which glorifies the motor cycle policeman. He has just completed "The Millionaire Cowboy," which was one of a collection of stories by Darryl Francis published in his book, "Habit."

NORTHEAST OKLAHOMA TO BE CANVASSED FOR FUNDS

(By the Associated Press)
TULSA, Okla., Oct. 2.—Every city and town in Northeast Oklahoma will be canvassed for funds before the Northeastern Oklahoma chamber of commerce launches its opening drive for the acquisition of new farmers for the state, chamber officials have announced.
Almost $20,000 has been raised. The chamber seeks $10,000 more. At a meeting of the executive committee of the chamber, railroad officials, bankers, farmers and merchants from various parts of the state here tentative plans were approved for excursions to be conducted to Oklahoma from other states, and for the land to be sold under a contract between real estate dealers holding the lands and the chamber.
Approximately 5,000,000 acres will be offered for agriculture. Most of this is vacant land fit for farming purposes, the chamber declares. Farmers will be brought from all parts of the country and the chamber will sell them the land at cost. Agents to conduct visiting farmers over the vacant sections are now being selected.

STRAW HAT ON BAN AS LONDON HEADGEAR

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON.—Except for those on the heads of American tourists, straw hats have almost entirely passed out of the life of London. Before the war they were the recognized headgear for men in English cities during the summer, just as they are in the cities of America. Factories at St. Albans and Luton turned them out by the thousands. Several of these makers have closed their plants, some solvent, others bankrupt. Those who continue to fabricate "hatters," as the Englishman refers to stiff straws, depend almost entirely upon overseas orders, most from America.
The light and soft felt hat killed the boaters, with the able assistance of England's erratic weather. When the war came those who remained in civil life sacrificed some swank along with white bread, huge portions of roast beef and other peacetime enjoyments, and gave up the shining silk topper that every city gentleman wore to his work. The derby—called the bowler—became the standard winter wear, and the felt—called the hombard—the ordinary summertime headpiece. The

Crop Here Larger
Ada has already received more cotton this year than it received the entire season last year, according to the figures available.
The Pontotoc-Cotton Gin ginned more cotton in September than it did the entire season last year. Some of the other gins did not run at all last season, so it is not likely that the Pontotoc gin is getting as large a proportion of the crop as it did a year ago, it is pointed out.
The gins outside of Ada in the county are ginning about in proportion, reports indicate.
Ada has received approximately 3,500 bales to date.
The price on the streets today ranged from 25 cents down to 24.25. The highest price paid yesterday was 25.25.

Ada has already received more cotton this year than it received the entire season last year, according to the figures available.
The Pontotoc-Cotton Gin ginned more cotton in September than it did the entire season last year. Some of the other gins did not run at all last season, so it is not likely that the Pontotoc gin is getting as large a proportion of the crop as it did a year ago, it is pointed out.
The gins outside of Ada in the county are ginning about in proportion, reports indicate.
Ada has received approximately 3,500 bales to date.
The price on the streets today ranged from 25 cents down to 24.25. The highest price paid yesterday was 25.25.

BALKAN STATES SEEM READY FOR MUTUAL HELPFUL ACTION

SOFIA, Bulgaria.—A conference of all the Balkan states is possible, following the precedent set by the London conference, if proposals being framed by the Bulgarian delegation to the League of Nations meetings in Geneva, meet with success.
When the delegation started for Geneva recently, it was prepared for an exchange of views in the Swiss city with the Rumanian, Greek and Yugoslavian delegates. The official view here is that the Balkan states have acted at cross-purposes long enough, and that the time for united action to promote the legitimate interests of all the Balkan states has come.
This is notably the view of the minister of foreign affairs, M. Kaloff, who said the other day to the Associated Press correspondent:
"The misfortunes of the Balkan peoples are due chiefly to rivalries among them, created largely by foreign influence. It is time to bring these to an end. The Balkan states have common interests. It is time the countries in this part of the world devoted themselves to the promotion of these interests by common action."

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

(By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.)

THAT men are in business to make money. Those that are making money are invariably those who believe in advertising.
THAT the ones who have the greatest success are the ones who know how to advertise, or know enough to have someone do it for them.
THAT while such kind of business has its own problems, they are all alike in one respect: They must advertise in order to succeed.
THAT advertisers must inform the public the truth about quality and service in a way that will make the public consider the advertised business first. The public must be told over and over again so they will have no chance to forget.
THAT truthful advertising is the only kind that pays. The public can't be fooled but once.
THAT advertising is good for any business. With the elimination of advertising you can always see a curtailment of buying. Stores with a reputation for values always advertise.
THAT advertising produces business. Get plenty of business.
PERMANENT TRADE IS WHAT IS NEEDED IN EVERY BUSINESS.
THE WAY TO START IT, AS WELL AS THE WAY TO KEEP IT, IS THE ADVERTISING WAY. (Copyright 1924, by E. R. Waite.)

MALARIA LEAVES A HEAVY MARK

Malaria, unfortunately, does not end with the breaking of Chills and reducing of Fever. Even after the patient is free from actual illness, the marks on his system are plain to see. Vitality is weak, appetite poor, weight fallen off, spirits low. In such conditions Wintersmith's Chill Tonic, a reliable anti-malaria prescription is invaluable.
Wintersmith's Chill Tonic builds up and restores what the malarial fever has taken away. It enriches and purifies the blood, aids the appetite, tones up the system, hastens the return of health and strength.
Taken as you feel Chills and Fever coming on, Wintersmith's Chill Tonic gives prompt and certain relief, and a long siege of Malaria can often be avoided. Its beneficial effects have been proved in thousands of cases, over 56 years of continued use. At your drug store. Popular size, 60c; manufacturer's size, $1. Made only by the Wintersmith Chemical Co., Inc., Louisville, Ky.

THE BIBLE
"All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness."—2 Tim. 3:16.
THE Bible contains a great variety of different compositions, embracing sixty-six smaller volumes comprising historical narratives, laws, ordinance, poetry, doctrine, moral and religious precepts written by different persons widely separated from each other in place and time. More than 1,500 years elapsed while the authors of these productions were engaged in writing them. Even in a literary aspect the Sacred Scriptures form the most remarkable book the world has ever seen. The wisest and best of men have borne witness to their efficacy as an instrument of enlightenment and purification. It reveals the character of God, and nature and condition of man and the end for which he was created. It deals with the inseparable connection between sin and misery, the principles on which the Ruler of the Universe is governing the world, and His revelation of Himself through Christ. Wherever the Bible has been received, its effects are such as no other book has ever produced. Character and conduct are altered, elevated and purified. It supplies the most powerful motives to honesty, industry and social integrity.
The Word of God fills up the measure of our wants, directs, controls, and comforts through all conditions in life.

FIRST DIVISION VETS IN REUNION

National Capital Host to Veterans of Overseas Division

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Comrades who fought in France under the flag of the First Division were gathered today in Washington in preparation for the divisional and regimental reunions tonight which will proceed the exercises tomorrow at the unveiling of the memorial to their war dead. It was expected that 10,000 or more First Division men, of the more than 60,000 who passed over the rolls of the famous battle organization in France, would be present tomorrow to participate in the ceremonies.

A three day program will occupy the veterans with the dedication of the monument as its chief feature. President Coolidge will deliver the address of dedication and Private Dan R. Edwards, who won both the Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Service Cross for repeated displays of extremely valor in action, will draw aside the flag that veils the memorial to his dead comrades.

The navy played host to its soldier comrades today, taking them down the Potomac to visit Mount Vernon, the veterans being served with luncheon during the river trip. On their return the various regimental and other organizations included in the division, and which have established associations to perpetuate the comradeship of war days, were scheduled to meet preparatory to a divisional reunion at night.

Seven years ago today, the First Division was preparing to enter the battle line in the Lunenburg sector, the first American troops to come in actual contact with the enemy in the world war. It moved into position October 21, 1917, and two days later, Battery C, 6th Light Artillery, fired the first shot in the struggle for Peishing's troops. On November 3 three men of the 18th Infantry, Henderson, Enright and Baggett, killed in a German raiding attack, the first American soldiers to give their lives, and the first German prisoners to fall into American hands were captured.

To aid in the dedication ceremonies at Washington from northern posts a composite regiment from the 16th and 18th Infantry which now, as during the war, compose the First Brigade, First Division. The Sixth Artillery also was brought to the capital for the ceremonies, although it was impossible to bring the other units of the division, the 24th and 28th Infantry and the 5th and 7th Artillery. The regulars, supported by the troops of the District of Washington, will form the military escort of the veterans now out of the service who will march tomorrow in honor of their dead.

It is a proud record of heroic devotion to the flag that is written on the memorial. From Lunenburg through all the fighting at Cantigny, Soissons, St. Mihiel, the Argonne, Sedan, the First Division left its dead on every field until the great roll of those to whom the living pay tribute musters 5,536 names. It numbered its total casualties in five times that number, counted the prisoners and runs and war materials it captured in the thousands, and through it all, by the written testimony of General Pershing himself, its courage never wavered, its morale never broke.

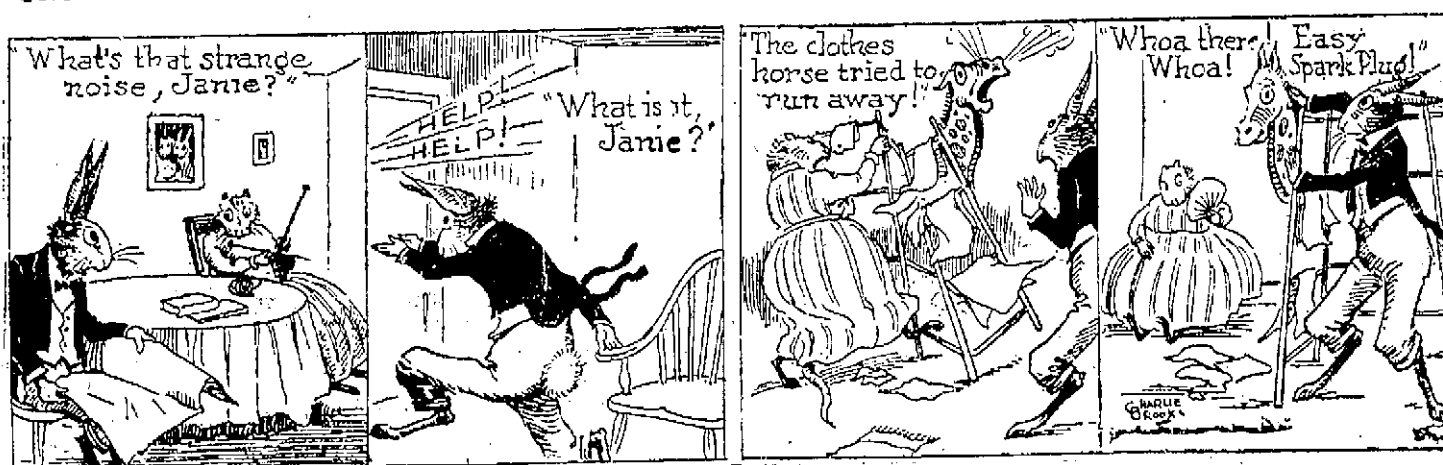

Notice to Owners and Drivers of Automobiles

Section 11, of Ordinance 426, reads as follows: "No motor vehicle shall be driven upon the streets of the city of Ada with the exhaust or cut-out open, but all such vehicles shall be provided with mufflers, and the exhaust from such vehicle shall be forced through their mufflers to reduce the noise of operation to a minimum."

I am calling your attention to this section of the traffic ordinance after having received numerous complaints of its violation. I am convinced that at least 75 percent of the people are law abiding, and am warning the other 5 percent that unless they set right, they are going to find their bank account is being transferred to the city in the form of fines. 10-2-1

BULGARIAN CIGARETTES MAY WIN GERMAN FAVOR

PLON DIV. Bulgaria.—When diplomats disagree, business sometimes goes by the board, and what is Greece's loss may become Bulgaria's gain. Just because a minister insisted French was the language of diplomacy, the tobacco growers of Plovdiv hope to find a new market for their product in Berlin.

Herr von Seelen, German minister to Greece, arrived in Athens and announced he would make his official address to the president of the Greek republic in German. But the Greek foreign minister, M. Roussos, insisted that French was the language of diplomacy in Greece as elsewhere, and said that Herr von Seelen should speak in French.

The German pointed out with resentment that a Greek minister to Germany had been permitted to make his presentation address to the president of the German Reich in Greek. The boycott on tobacco, the chief product of Greece, followed.

Germany in 1923 imported 12,000,000 kilograms of tobacco, and Bulgarian growers are hoping to annex a considerable proportion of the Greek shipments for at least as long as the boycott lasts.

LONDON FACING JOBLESS WINTER

More Than Million Without Work This Year in Britain

(By the Associated Press) LONDON.—Great Britain's army of more than a million jobless people is facing the fifth winter of unemployment. The permanent solution of this post-war problem is as far away as ever in the opinion of economists.

Inasmuch as three different governments—Coalition, Conservative and Labor—have dealt with the question, which still awaits solution, it would appear to the detached observer that the problem is one of after war economics rather than partisan politics.

For five years the unemployment question has been a sort of arch-enemy to whatever political party happened to be in opposition. In fact it seems to be a problem that is more readily grasped by an opposition than by which ever government happens to be responsible for the conduct of affairs.

The Labor government, not without pride, points to the latest unemployment figures available—1,149,100—as about 120,000 less than for the corresponding figures a year ago. This, however, leaves the minimum at well over a million where it has been for the past five winters, and where in the view of not a few economists it is to remain permanently.

The crux of the question, according to a spokesman for the Labor government, lies in the ship-building, cotton, and engineering industries which have never recovered from the disruption in which they were found at the close of the war.

This spokesman declared that Britain's army of more than a million jobless can never be put to work until the solution of the problem of German reparations has restored the economic equilibrium not only of Germany but of Europe and the world. Closely allied to this problem, in the view of economists of the Labor party, is the question of trade relations with Russia. As the Dawes plan has just been launched and the House of Commons, when Parliament resumes at the end of this month, will debate the treaty which the MacDonald government negotiated with Soviet Russia, the future alone will determine how these latest international agreements will affect world trade conditions.

The unemployment dole is regarded by both philanthropists and economists as a necessary evil—adequate to take care of the needs of its recipients and demoralizing because payments are made without any return in labor.

A family consisting of father and mother and four children, if eligible to the unemployment dole will receive 31 shillings a week this winter, as against 24 shillings a week last winter.

SEDATE INTERNATIONAL COURT ROBBED OF ITS INSIGNIA

(By the Associated Press) THE HAGUE.—Even the hallowed precincts of Andrew Carnegie's Peace Palace are not safe from the depredations of souvenir hunters, it seems, for it has become known that the presidential hammer has been stolen from the council table of the Permanent Court of International Justice.

The hammer is artistically carved of ebony, and about 12 inches long.

It was presented to the Court by the Senate of Leyden University in 1922.

It has been missing since August 26, and information leading to its recovery is requested by the Hague chief of police.

WAS GOOD JUDGE OF LIQUOR

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble which became chronic. My stomach would have been a valuable addition to a gas factory. Doctors did not seem to relieve me. One day my druggist got me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now as good as new." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Gwin & Mays or money refunded. Gwin & Mays or leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

College Notes

History Department.

That East Central is growing friends, alumni and students are proud to admit. Only by a comparison of figures of a few years ago and now can the extreme rapidity of growth be recorded. The following facts have been taken from the enrollment of the History and Social Department for the first terms of the year 1920 and 1924.

High school classes below fourth year, 1920, 99; 1925, 76, decrease 23; 23 percent decrease. Fourth year high school, 57 in 1920 and 129 in 1924; 72 increase; 144 percent increase. Social science, 66 in 1920 and 541 in 1924; 476 increase and 718 percent increase.

Perhaps some comment on the classes that made up the above totals will be interesting. In the fall of 1920 the sixty-six college students were five less than those taking ninth grade Ancient History.
The group in the first three years of high school has decreased not only relatively but numerically. The increase of seventy-two in the fourth year required American High School History seems to come from three distinct sources. Many teacher's over high school age are attempting to secure first High-School and then Normal School diplomas. The second group is recruited from the small two- or three- year high school. The last group comes from those students of four year schools who are admitted with thirteen and one-half units or more but who are deficient in their required High School American History.

In the college work proper the greatest changes have occurred.
Eighteen people took the required
College American History and Social Sciences in the first term of 1920. Now in History proper, there are 411 taking College courses. The History department, however, has until this year, given all courses in Social Sciences. For the sake of comparison we should add the one hundred thirty people doing work in the newly created department of Social Science. This brings the total in History and Social Science to five hundred forty one. This is thirteen more than eight times as many college students as were enrolled in the same type of courses in the corresponding term of 1920.

MANY BRITISH WAR DEAD WILL REMAIN IN GERMANY

(By the Associated Press)

HAMBURG, Germany.—The bodies of many British soldiers and sailors who died in German hospitals and prison camps during the war are to remain in the country permanently.

The British government recently acquired several tracts of ground here and elsewhere where cemeteries are to be maintained. The largest burial place will be in the Ohlsdorf cemetery of Hamburg, where a space for 700 graves has been taken over by the English. Bodies of soldiers who died in Mecklenburg,
Schleswig-Holstein, Hanover and Oldenburg are to be transferred here, as well as the sailors who died at Borkum and Emden.
